

Stop Aquatic Hitchhikers!

Invasive mussels are here! Quagga mussels, closely related to zebra mussels, have been found in Lakes Mead and Mohave. Plants and animals that may be lurking on your watercraft, trailer or on your vehicle will cause the spread of invasive mussels. Invasive mussels cause millions of dollars of damage to boat and water systems by clogging pipes and engines. They also disrupt the native ecosystem.

CLEAN YOUR BOAT and ALL OF YOUR EQUIPMENT!

EVERY time you take them out of the water

- Prevent the spread.
- Clean, drain and dry ALL of your equipment.
- Don't move a Mussel!

To prevent spreading invasive mussels inspect all parts of your boat, trailer and vehicle including equipment, clothing, dogs, etc.
