

Instating a Leader: 2009 v. 1815

	Observations from the Presidential Inauguration in 2009	Observations from Instating a Monarch in Europe in 1815
Was the event well attended? What does this tell about the people's opinion of the leader?
Was there a large number of military/police present? Why would that be needed?
Which flags are flying? Why?
What buildings are in the background? Why are they significant?
What type of clothing are the people wearing? What social class could they belong to?
Was the event in an urban or rural area? Why would one select that location?
What additional details can be observed?

How does the Presidential Inauguration compare to the Re-instatement of a King?

Similarity	Differences