

SOMETHING FISHY SUMMER CAMP

A camp exploring New Bedford's Whaling History & Contemporary Working Waterfront
2 One Week Sessions in 2013
9am-3pm

Based out of the National Park's Corson Maritime Learning Center
(Located in downtown New Bedford adjacent to the Visitor Center on William Street)

New Bedford Whaling National Historical Park in collaboration with the Working Waterfront Festival is offering a week long camp experience to children ages 9-10 (entering grades 4 or 5). The camp will be offered FREE of charge! Campers will be "hooked" into the history and culture of our working port from whaling days to present through a variety of hands-on camp activities including marine science and organism investigations, arts and crafts, fieldtrips, chantey singing and more! Campers will have a whale of a tale to tell after this amazing and informative week which will educate children about the past, present and future of New Bedford's fishing industry.

If your child is interested in learning more about whaling, fishing and marine science, please complete and submit the registration form below by June 24, 2013. Breakfast and lunch are provided free of charge. Transportation to and from camp is NOT provided. Campers will be selected through a lottery process and notified by July 1. Please note: space is limited to 20 campers per session.

Please return this form to: Something Fishy Camp, New Bedford Whaling National Historical Park, 33 William Street, New Bedford, MA 02740. Questions? Call (508) 993-8894
