

A map of North America showing the United States and Mexico. The United States is colored in a light tan shade, and Mexico is colored in a reddish-pink shade. A dark grey line with an arrow pointing to it is labeled "Present-day boundary". The location of Palo Alto Battlefield National Historical Park is marked with a small dark green square in the state of Coahuila, Mexico. The text "United States" is centered in the northern part of the map, and "Mexico" is centered in the southern part. The text "PALO ALTO BATTLEFIELD NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK" is written in green capital letters next to the park's location. The surrounding oceans are light blue, and the landmasses show topographical details like mountains and rivers.
