Narrative Description

Summary Paragraph

The North Cherry Street Historic District is a four-block-long residential historic district. It is adjacent to modern urban renewal development, including Kimberly Park School, on the east. Three one-block-long streets to the west of North Cherry Street are included (Seventeenth Street, Twentieth Street, and Lincoln Avenue) in the district, and they are bordered on the west by the modern development of University Parkway. One-half block of Pittsburg Avenue is included east of North Cherry Street.

Narrative description of the boundary decrease area

The North Cherry Street Historic District Boundary Decrease area consists of two separate areas of the district. At the time of the National Register listing in 2004 the areas contained eight contributing structures that were mostly bungalow style, one-story, single-family houses or duplexes, and one non-contributing residential building, a Y-stair plan apartment building. There are now six newly constructed single-family residential structures in the southern area, built by Habitat for Humanity of Forsyth County as part of Winston-Salem's 2009 North Cherry Street Master Plan.

The northern decrease area contains two house lots on the east side of Cherry Street, at the northern end of the historic district. The northernmost lot, 2067 North Cherry Street, had a contributing Dutch Colonial Revival house standing on it. The building was demolished and the lot is now vacant. The adjacent lot to the south was and still is vacant.

The southern decrease area is a nearly one-block long area, mostly on the east side of the street, south of Pittsburg Avenue. At the time of the National Register listing in 2004 on the east side of the southern decrease area there were five houses built on four lots (1407, 1409, 1411-1413, 1415, and 1419 North Cherry Street). The houses were simple bungalows. The houses were demolished in 2009, and in 2010, Habitat for Humanity constructed three new houses reconfiguring the lots into three lots because of the location of a stream and current zoning and building ordinances. One of the new houses, at 1417 North Cherry Street, was actually built outside the historic district, just south of the district boundary. Habitat for Humanity also built three additional houses on the vacant lots north of these (1441, 1447, and 1453 North Cherry Street). The new houses are frame, one to two stories tall with vinyl siding; vinyl six-over-one, double-hung sash windows; asphalt roof; and, brick foundation.

Two house lots on the west side of the street at the southern end of the historic district are included in the boundary decrease. Previously, one contributing 1930s frame house and a contributing duplex stood on the lots (1408 and 1412 N. Cherry Street). They have been demolished and the lots are currently vacant. New information about the property status is in bold in the entry text.

ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTATION

Since the North Cherry Street Historic District was listed in the National Register in 2004, nine contributing buildings and three non-contributing resources have been demolished in the portion of the district that is remaining on the National Register. Six of the seven newly-constructed non-contributing houses have been built on vacant lots. Several of the primary resources in the historic district have been rehabilitated. The district now contains fifty-five contributing primary resources, three contributing outbuildings and nine non-contributing resources (including the seven new houses). The inventory below is a full list of all of the resources in the remaining historic district. New information about the property status is in bold.

HISTORIC DISTRICT BOUNDARY DECREASE AMENDMENT

This amendment to the North Cherry Street Historic District National Register nomination documents a boundary decrease that includes two residential lots at the historic district's north end, nearly one block on the east side of the 1400 block of North Cherry Street at the southern end of the district, and two residential lots on the west side of Cherry Street at the district's south end.

This boundary decrease area is part of the North Cherry Street Redevelopment Plan, which is a partnership between the City of Winston-Salem, (which utilized Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds, the HOME Investment Partnership Program Act (HOME)), Habitat for Humanity of Forsyth County, and two local developers. The goal of the redevelopment plan was to provide good quality housing for low income families in the neighborhood and to strengthen the continuity of the streetscape by infilling where original houses were neglected and have been demolished. Following Winston-Salem's Section 106 consultation with the North Carolina Historic Preservation Office (NCHPO), it was determined that several contributing and one non-contributing building in the boundary decrease area could not be feasibly rehabilitated. Two Memoranda of Agreement were executed between the City of Winston-Salem and the NCHPO in 2004 and 2008 approving the demolition for the redevelopment project.

With the demolition of the one contributing house at the district's north end; two contributing houses on the west side of North Cherry Street at the south end; and the loss of five contributing houses on the east side of North Cherry Street at the southern end, the boundary decrease areas no longer retain any historic integrity and warrant removal from the historic district. Vacant lots or new compatible houses now stand where historic buildings stood at the time of the designation.

ADDITIONAL DOCUMENTATION

Since the time of the 2004 National Register listing ten contributing and four non-contributing buildings have been demolished within the historic district that continues to warrant designation. Between 2010 and 2013 Habitat for Humanity constructed seven new houses within the remaining historic district. In 2010-2012, two contributing houses and four contributing apartment buildings have been completely rehabilitated by private developers.

Four lots in this part of the district were vacant at the time of designation. They were included in the North Cherry Street Redevelopment Plan and have had Habitat for Humanity houses built upon them. Also, new houses have replaced three contributing houses, for a total of seven new houses in the existing historic district. Ten new vacant lots appear in the district where three non-contributing and seven contributing resources were demolished by private owners. Habitat for Humanity is interested in continuing to build in the neighborhood when a lot becomes available for sale.

Overall, the recent alterations have not resulted in a significant loss of historic integrity in the remainder of the district. Streetscapes and the spatial arrangement of built resources have good integrity. Two historic buildings were demolished in the northern half (north of Seventeenth Street) of the remaining historic district, and the eight buildings lost in the southern half are scattered among the remaining twenty-three historic primary resources. Several historic buildings have been rehabilitated and their integrity has been improved. The district now has fifty-nine (fifty-five primary buildings, three outbuildings, and one object) contributing resources and ten non-contributing buildings, seven of which are new compatible houses. The North Cherry Street Historic District continues to reflect its significant history associated with African Americans in Winston-Salem.
