Professional Development Opportunity

The Teacher Ranger Teacher program is a professional development opportunity for K-12 teachers to spend the summer acquiring new skills in experiential learning through a program provided by a partnership between the National Park Service (NPS) and the University of Colorado Denver (CUD). The participants spend between four and six weeks in a NPS unit developing a major educational project and participating in an online graduate course from CU Denver. The goal of the program is to train teachers in the resources and themes of the NPS so that they can return to their schools in the fall and incorporate their new skills into their classroom activities. NPS aims to especially reach students from underserved schools and districts by recruiting teachers from Title 1, urban or rural schools and from tribal schools to participate in the Teacher Ranger Teacher program.

The Obed was added to the National Park System in October 1976 and consists of sections of four streams: Daddy's Creek, Clear Creek, Emory River, and the Obed River. For thousands of years these streams have been cutting into the sandstone of the Cumberland Plateau creating spectacular gorges with 200-foot cliffs. Your Teacher Ranger Teacher experience at the Obed will consist of touring the park, shadowing rangers as they provide programs and learning more about the flora and fauna of the area with National Park Service experts as they work in Resource Management. Your summer will be filled with new experiences that only the National Park Service can provide. The Obed is looking for a Teacher Ranger Teacher who can help create educational experiences in a variety of subject areas.
