

Chateau Special Concert August 23, 2014

Jacqueline Henry-Ross and Robert Scott Stanton will perform a special concert at the Chateau at the Oregon Caves on Saturday, August 23 at 7 p.m. The musicians will each play solos, then end the concert with several duets. Spanish classical guitarist Henry-Ross last performed at the Chateau in 2012 with her twin sister, Patricia Turner, to celebrate their 40th birthday. As a duo, they have performed throughout Oregon, California and Mexico.

Henry-Ross started to play guitar at the age of nine and studied intensely under the tutelage of David Grimes, graduating with a Bachelors of Music Degree from California State University, Fullerton. Her most profound memories include having taken Master Classes with the world renowned classical guitarist Maestro Andrés Segovia. In addition, she and her twin were chosen to perform for him as a duo at a Benefit Concert in his honor at the Coconut Grove in Los Angeles along with the Brazilian guitarist Larindo Almeida accompanied by his wife who sang soprano.

Henry-Ross and her husband, Steve, are presently co-owners of Kerby Mart in Kerby, Harbor Tobacco in Brookings and Gasquet Market in Gasquet, California. Pianist Robert Scott Stanton's music has been described by some as "haunting" "memorable" and "passionate." An artist and composer, Stanton recently released a CD titled "By the Wings of an Angel."

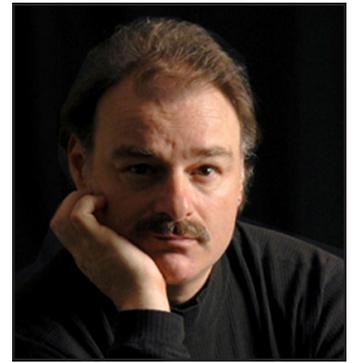

Stanton's musical education began at age 5. He studied briefly in his early years at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and later studied privately for several years with composer and pianist Julian Maurice White. Later he enrolled in Piano Performance and Composition at San Francisco State University with William Corbet Jones in addition to Master classes with Karl Ulrich Schnabel and private sessions with world renowned composer and pianist Robert Helps.

Stanton's performing experience spans 30 years in both contemporary and classical music in venues throughout the western United States and Europe. With music influenced by such artists as Chopin, Debussy, The Beatles, Jean Luc Ponti and a host of others; Stanton has orchestrated arrangements that have been called Smooth Jazz, Modern Classical and New Age. Notable performances include events with Phil Everly of the Everly Brothers, Miles Davis, and Mickey Thomas of the band Jefferson Starship.

Regarding the upcoming performance Henry-Ross states: "I hope our music lifts your spirits, leaving you enchanted with a night of musical romance."

For further information, call the Chateau at 541-592-3400.

Music described by some as "haunting" "memorable" and "passionate" artist and composer Robert Scott Stanton has taken his love for creating emotive music released for all to enjoy on his CD "By the Wing of an Angel." Robert's musical education began at age 5. He studied briefly in his early years at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and later studied privately for several years with composer and pianist Julian Maurice White. Later he enrolled in Piano Performance and Composition at San Francisco State University with William Corbet Jones in addition to Master classes with Karl Ulrich Schnabel and private sessions with world renowned composer and pianist Robert Helps. Robert's performing experience spans 30 years in both Contemporary and Classical music in venues throughout the western United States and Europe. With music influenced by such artists as Chopin, Debussy, The Beatles, Jean Luc Ponti and a host of others Stanton has orchestrated arrangements that have been called Smooth Jazz, Modern Classical and New Age. Notable performances include events with Phil Everly of the Everly Brothers, Miles Davis, and Mickey Thomas of the Jefferson Starship. Composer Robert Scott Stanton brings music to radio, television, and film and through live performances he touches listeners in a powerful and intimate way.

Robert Scott Stanton

Jacqueline Henry-Ross

A local classical guitarist. She not only loves to share her musical gifts but also her passion for the Spanish Classical Guitar. She will carry you back in time as she performs throughout the musical periods. She started to play guitar at the age of nine and studied intensely under the tutelage of David Grimes graduating with a Bachelors of Music Degree from California

State University, Fullerton. Her most profound memories include having taken Master Classes with the world renowned classical guitarist Maestro Andrés Segovia. In addition, she and her twin sister Patricia Turner were chosen to perform for him as a duo at a Benefit Concert in his honor at the Coconut Grove in Los Angeles along with the Brazilian guitarist Larindo Almeida accompanied by his wife who sang soprano. As a duo, they have had opportunities to perform at public and private settings throughout Oregon, California and Mexico. She and her husband Steve are presently the co-owners of Kerby Mart in Kerby, Harbor Tobacco in Brookings and Gasquet Market in Gasquet, California. Jacqueline hopes her music lifts your spirits leaving you enchanted with a night of musical romance.