

See!

- Nine massive stone buildings that comprise Fort Larned. Built in the middle 1860's to replace adobe structures, they are still preserved in their original state.
- Museum where Indian artifacts of the area and hundreds of pioneer items are displayed.
- Valuable antique gun and rifle collection and the "Old Colts" that won the West.
- Officer's Quarters carefully refurnished with antique pieces and pioneer pieces.
- Museum of horse-drawn vehicles.
- Old Harness Shop and display of early saddles.
- Gunports used by troops to protect the Fort on the one side where the Pawnee River offered no barrier.
- Old Escape Tunnel now opened to the public.
- Original Blacksmith and Wheelright Shop with preserved forge, bellows, and tools. Thousands of horses, mules and oxen were shod here.
- 100 year old Parade Ground with a massive 90 foot flagpole in its center.

VISIT--Historic

Fort Larned is an excellent surviving example of a frontier military post, and the best preserved along the Santa Fe trail.

Operated by the Fort Larned Historical Society, a non-profit organization.

on Highway U.S.-156,
The Santa Fe Trail

tacts About Fort Larned

 Established and manned as first military post West of Fort Riley in 1859 to guard mails and travelers on Santa Fe Trail.

 Served as Indian agency for nearly 9 years with Col. Leavenworth and other famed Indian agents in charge.

• West's only perfectly preserved Plains Wars post. Quadrangle of 9 buildings measures 500 by 500 feet-except for slight alteration in roof lines, buildings remain unchanged.

More than 100 battles and skirmishes fought out of Fort Larned with Indians.

More than 500 troopers, plainsmen and Indians killed or wounded within 30 miles of massive 2foot stone walls.

• Under siege many times by Plains Indians.

· Served Kiowas, Cheyennes Plains Apaches and Arapahoes as Indian agency-8,500 Indians rationed here at one time.

• Generals Custer Sherman, Sheridan, Hazen, Hancock. Terry, Blunt served here.

Battle of Washita and campaign of 1868 which broke back of southern Plains Indians planned here by Generals Custer and Sheridan in 1868.

• Designated by War Department during Civil War as marshalling point for west-bound wagons which were ordered not to move without Fort troops to escort them.

1.000 covered wagons, 10 abreast started west from Fort Larned in single day.

Buffalo Bill Cody, Wild Bill Hickock served here as scouts, Col. Kit Carson frequent visitor.

Visitors will see blacksmith shop, stone forge, bellows which shod tens of thousands of Santa Fe Trail horses, mules and oxen, and a museum of tools.

Large museum with Indian collection dating back 2.000 years, big gun collection Pioneer Room, Costume Room, dugout canoe, square piano and other antique musical instruments.

Another museum 40 by 60 feet featuring horsedrawn equippage, including western buckboards, horse-drawn ambulance, surreys, old garrison's gun racks, etc.

• Line of buildings 500 feet long with more than 100 rifle ports and museum containing old guns, Indian artifacts and other mementos of pioneer days.

Indian tepee and covered wagon display.

• Fort Larned is open to the public from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in summer and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in winter.

HOW TO REACH HISTORIC FORT LARNED.

