Virginia and South Carolina troops probably camped in this area.

French troops fought from positions in woods within musket range of fort.

Indian trail which Washington was developing as a military road.