National Register of Historic Places

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
National Park Service
NATIONAL REGISTER OF HISTORIC PLACES

Pursuant to the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 915; 16 U.S.C. 470) the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation and the National Park Service, Department of the Interior have undertaken steps to implement the purposes of that act through (1) expansion of the National Register of Historic Places, (2) initiating a program of grants-in-aid for historic preservation, and (3) adoption of procedures and criteria for furthering the Nation's historic preservation program. In addition, the role and functions of the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation have been more clearly defined.

It is the purpose of this notice, through publication of the following information and materials, to apprise the public, as well as governmental agencies, associations, and all other organizations and individuals interested in historic preservation of the implementing actions that have been taken in order that there will be a greater awareness of the means by which properties of State and local historical significance may be nominated for placement in the National Register, of the criteria used in evaluating the properties, and of the responsibilities exercised by the Advisory Council. The notice includes a list of the properties presently included in the National Register of Historic Places. Amendments and revisions of that list will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER from time to time.

HARTHON L. BILL,
Acting Director, National Park Service, and Executive Director, Advisory Council on Historic Preservation.

THE NATIONAL HISTORIC PRESERVATION ACT
I. THE NATIONAL REGISTER OF HISTORIC PLACES AND PROCEDURES FOR REGISTRATION

A. Introduction. In the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, 80 Stat. 915, 16 U.S.C. 470, the Congress found and declared:

(a) That the spirit and direction of the Nation are founded upon and reflected in its historic past;

(b) That the historical and cultural foundations of the Nation should be preserved as a living part of our community life and development in order to give a sense of orientation to the American people.

(c) That, in the face of ever-increasing extensions of urban centers, highways, and residential, commercial, and industrial developments, the present governmental and nongovernmental historic preservation programs and activities are inadequate to insure future generations a genuine opportunity to appreciate and enjoy the rich heritage of our Nation; and

(d) That, although the major burdens of historic preservation have been borne and major efforts initiated by private agencies and individuals, and both should continue to play a vital role, it is nevertheless necessary and appropriate for the Federal Government to accelerate its historic preservation programs and activities, to give maximum encouragement to agencies and individuals undertaking preservation by private means, and to assist State and local governments and the National Trust for Historic Preservation in the United States to expand and accelerate their historic preservation programs and activities.

In order to accomplish these purposes, the National Historic Preservation Act provided for three significant innovations: An expanded National Register of Historic Places, a program of grants-in-aid for historic preservation, and an Advisory Council on Historic Preservation empowered to comment upon all undertakings licensed, assisted, or carried out by the Federal Government that have an effect upon properties in the National Register.

Official notice is hereby given to the public and government agencies of the opportunities and restrictions provided by the National Historic Preservation Act. Detailed administrative procedures for the program may be found in the manual "Grants For Historic Preservation: A Guide For State Participation" (U.S. Department of the Interior, National Park Service, Washington, D.C.), which will be available for purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C.

B. Expanding the National Register of Historic Places. The Act authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to expand and maintain a National Register of districts, sites, buildings, structures, and objects significant in American history, architecture, archeology, and culture. Previously, the National Register included only nationally significant properties that are historical or archeological units of the National Park System or that have been declared eligible for designation as National Historic Landmarks. Because they must meet exacting criteria of national significance, such properties are few in number. The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 provides a means for States to nominate properties of State and local significance for placement in the National Register.

The following officials have been designated by their Governors to act as State Liaison Officers responsible for State activities under the National Historic Preservation Act:

The State Liaison Officer supervises a professional survey staff in conducting a statewide historic sites survey. From the survey findings a comprehensive statewide historic preservation plan is prepared. The plan must be reviewed and approved by a high-level professional review committee. The State Liaison Officer, in accordance with the plan, may then nominate properties for inclusion in the National Register. The nominated properties which are approved by the National Park Service are entered in the National Register of Historic Places by the Chief, Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation, National Park Service.

In exceptional cases, States may make nominations before submission of the statewide historic preservation plan. The National Park Service will consider appropriate properties so nominated which have received unanimous approval of the professional review committee and the State Liaison Officer as unquestionably worthy of entry into the National Register of Historic Places. Such consideration will be given to properties which are: (a) In State ownership; (b) recognized in other Federal historic preservation programs; (c) owned by private, national, regional, or State organizations concerned with historic preservation; or (d) recognized in an existing State landmark program.

The following criteria shall be used by the States in evaluating properties for nomination to the National Register of Historic Places and by the National Park Service in reviewing State nominations.

National Register Criteria of Evaluation

The quality of significance in American history, architecture, archeology, and culture is present in districts, sites, buildings, structures, and objects of State and local importance that possess integrity of location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, and association, and:

1. That are associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history; or

2. That are associated with the lives of persons significant in our past; or

3. That embody the distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction, or that represent the work of a master, or that possess high artistic values, or that represent a significant and distinguishable entity whose components may lack individual distinction; or

4. That have yielded, or may be likely to yield, information important in prehistory or history.

Criteria considerations. Ordinarily cemeteries, birthplaces, or graves of historical figures, properties owned by religious institutions or used for religious purposes, structures that have been moved from their original locations, reconstructed historic buildings, properties primarily commemorative in nature, and properties that have achieved significance within the past 50 years shall not be considered eligible for the National Register. However, such properties will qualify if they are integral parts of districts that do meet the criteria or if they fall within the following categories:

(a) A religious property deriving primary significance from architectural or artistic distinction or historical importance.

(b) A building or structure removed from its original location but which is significant primarily for architectural value, or which is the surviving structure most importantly associated with a historic person or event.

(c) A birthplace or grave of a historical figure of outstanding importance if there is no appropriate site or building directly associated with his productive life.

(d) A cemetery which derives its primary significance from graves of persons of transcendent importance, from age, from distinctive design features, or from association with historic events.

(e) A reconstructed building when accurately executed in a suitable environment and presented in a dignified manner as part of a restoration master plan, and when no other building or structure with the same association has survived.

(f) A property primarily commemorative in kind if design, age, tradition, or symbolic value has invested it with its own historical significance.

(g) A property achieving significance within the past 50 years if it is of exceptional importance.

C. Grants for historic preservation. The National Historic Preservation Act also authorizes a program of grants-in-aid to States for comprehensive statewide historic site surveys and preservation plans. Grants are also authorized to States, local governments, private organizations, and individuals for preservation projects in accordance with an approved statewide plan. All grants are made through the States. The State Liaison Officer may then distribute the funds to other approved public and private recipients. Funds may be used for acquisition, protection, rehabilitation, restoration, and reconstruction of properties included in the National Register of Historic Places.

II. PROTECTION OF PROPERTIES IN THE NATIONAL REGISTER OF HISTORIC PLACES

A. Introduction. The National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 created the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation. The Council is authorized to advise the President and the Congress on matters relating to historic preservation; to recommend measures to coordinate activities of Federal, State, and local agencies and private institutions and individuals relating to historic preservation; to comment on undertakings carried out, licensed, or financially assisted by the Federal Government which have any effect upon properties listed in the National Register; and to secure from the appropriate Federal agencies certain information necessary to the performance of these duties.

B. Procedures for section 106 compliance. The Advisory Council exercises an important function by responding with comments to undertakings carried out, licensed, or financially assisted by the Federal Government, when the undertaking will affect a property listed in the National Register. This authority derives from section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act, which provides:

The head of any Federal agency having direct or indirect jurisdiction over a proposed Federal or federally assisted undertaking in any State and the head of any Federal department or independent agency having authority to license any undertaking shall, prior to the approval of the expenditure of any Federal funds on the undertaking or prior to the issuance of any license, as the case may be, take into account the effect of the undertaking on any district, site, building, structure, or object that is included in the National Register. The head of any such Federal agency shall afford the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation established under title II of this Act a reasonable opportunity to comment with regard to such undertaking.

The Advisory Council desires to provide maximum assistance in connection with section 106. Normally the Council anticipates that its comments will be required in only the most complex situations, and it requests that agencies fulfill their obligations under section 106 by the use of the following procedures:

ADVISORY COUNCIL ON HISTORIC PRESERVATION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20240

Procedures for Compliance Section 106

National Historic Preservation Act of 1966

At the earliest stage of planning or consideration of any undertakings carried out, licensed, or financially assisted by the Federal Government, an agency should follow these steps:

1. Consult the National Register of Historic Places to determine if a National Register property is involved in the undertaking. The National Register is maintained by the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation, National Park Service, and published from time to time with interim addendums in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

2. Apply the "Criteria for Effect." If there is no effect, the undertaking may proceed.

3. If there is an effect, regional, or State officials of the agency¹ in consultation with the State Liaison Officer and a representative of the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation shall:

(a) Determine if the effect is adverse—if not, the undertaking may proceed;

(b) Upon finding an adverse effect, select and agree upon a prudent and feasible alternative to remove the adverse effect, in which case the undertaking may proceed;

(c) Failing to find and agree upon an alternative, recommend all possible planning to minimize the adverse effect and delay further processing of the undertaking pending the receipt of comments from the Advisory Council.

4. Provide written notice affording the Advisory Council an opportunity to comment upon doubtful or unresolved situations of adverse effect and upon request submit a report of the undertaking.

The Council expects to exert its advisory prerogatives by commenting to agencies in certain special situations even though written notice of effect has not been received.

Criteria for Effect

A federally financed or licensed undertaking shall be considered to have an effect on a National Register listing (districts, sites, buildings, structures, and objects, including their settings) when any condition of the undertaking creates a change in the quality of the historical, architectural, archeological, or cultural character that qualified the property under the National Register criteria for listing in the National Register.

Generally, adverse effect occurs under conditions which include but are not limited to:

(a) Destruction or alteration of all or part of a property;

(b) Isolation from or alteration of its surrounding environment;

(c) Introduction of visual, audible, or atmospheric elements that are out of character with the property and its setting.

¹ When the agency has no regional or State officials, the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation will perform this service.

C. Advisory Council section 106 reporting procedures. For the convenience of agencies submitting effect notices to the Council under section 106, the following standard procedures for handling such notices have been promulgated:

1. Upon receipt of a written notice of an undertaking having an effect on a National Register property, the Council shall:

(a) Acknowledge its receipt and give notice of a 14-day review period during which the Advisory Council may determine and so advise the agency of its desire to comment;

(b) Refer the notice to the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation, National Park Service, for a preliminary verification of significance, National or otherwise, and evaluation of the effect upon the National Register property; and

(c) Determine that it will or will not comment.

2. Upon determination that the Council will comment on an undertaking, the Council shall:

(a) Notify the agency of Council intent to comment and date by which it will do so;

(b) Place the matter on the agenda of the next regular meeting or in exceptional circumstances schedule the matter for consideration in an unannounced meeting; and

(c) Authorize preparation of a section 106 report.

3. The section 106 report shall be prepared by the Executive Director and shall contain:

(a) A full report of verification and evaluation of the effect prepared by the Office of Archeology and Historic Preservation;

(b) A report from the requesting agency on the undertaking with the agency evaluation of effect; and

(c) Conclusions.

The section 106 report shall contain but not be limited to information such as a full description including visual materials of the National Register property, the undertaking, agency efforts to take into account effect on National Register properties, records of hearings, statements of support or opposition, a statement from the State Liaison Officer, and answers to any specific questions voiced by Council members. The Council will not hold formal hearings on section 106 matters. The Council comments to agencies shall take the form of a three-part statement including an introduction, findings, and a conclusion.

III. THE NATIONAL REGISTER OF HISTORIC PLACES
