CIVIL WAR & EMANCIPATION 150TH

THE AMERICAN
CIVIL WAR CENTER
At Historic Tredegar

FRIDAY, JULY 19

7:00PM Voices from the Storm: Richmond 1863 (multimedia presentation)

Inside the National Park Service Visitor Center at Historic Tredegar, 470 Tredegar Street

As Richmonders in 1863 followed news of victories and defeats at battlefields elsewhere, they struggled with challenges of overcrowded lodgings, prisons, and hospitals, food shortages, tragic industrial accidents, and reactions to Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation and what it could mean—if anything—to the city's enslaved population. Join us as we explore these stories in a narrated multimedia presentation featuring the words of historical figures who experienced them first-hand.

SATURDAY, JULY 20

10:30am Soldiers' Misery: Prison Life in Wartime Richmond (ranger-led tour)

Meet at the site of Libby Prison, 20th and East Cary Streets

By 1863, large numbers of Federal prisoners of war were held in the military prisons of Richmond. As they endured their confinement, the Confederate military prison staff struggled to care for them in the midst of the shortages affecting the South's entire economy. Join a Park Ranger for this exploration of the Richmond military prison community's efforts to "sit out the War" as the conflict continued into an uncertain future. This program involves an easy walk of approximately one-half mile.

12:00pm Angels on the Battlefield (gallery tour)

Inside the American Civil War Center at Historic Tredegar, 490 Tredegar Street

The war saw nursing go from an all male profession to one populated by ladies determined to show their patriotism and aid the thousands of wounded soldiers. Join a costumed interpreter for this family friendly gallery tour and examine the accomplishments of women in nursing and medicine during the American Civil War.

1:00pm A Prisoner's Life on Belle Isle (ranger-led tour)

National Park Service Visitor Center at Historic Tredegar, 470 Tredegar Street

Exposure, filth, fear, and unending hunger were just some of the everyday conditions suffered by all prisoners during the war. This tour will explore the stories of these forgotten casualties and the uncertain fate that awaited thousands of Union prisoners sent to Belle Isle.

2:00pm From Foundry to Fire! (demonstration)

Upper Parcel, American Civil War Center at Historic Tredegar, 490 Tredegar Street

The cannon manufacturing capabilities of Tredegar Iron Works were vital to the Confederate war effort. In this exciting program a costumed artillery crew will explain the process of making and testing cannon, the strategic importance of artillery and conclude with a bang!

SUNDAY, JULY 21

11:00am "A Great Calamity" — The Tragedy at Brown's Island (ranger-led tour)

Meet at the National Park Service Visitor Center at Historic Tredegar, 470 Tredegar Street

At the C.S. Laboratory on Brown's Island near Tredegar, mostly young women and girls did the dangerous work of producing the materiel of war. On Friday, March 13, 1863, one of the war's most tragic homefront disasters took place when an explosion ripped through the facility, killing more than 45 workers, the youngest of whom was only 9 years old. This tour will explore Brown's Island and this heart-breaking story.

1:00pm A Woman's War (gallery tour)

Inside the American Civil War Center at Historic Tredegar, 490 Tredegar Street

From nurses, workers and spies, these remarkable women not only maintained the home front, they were instrumental in what happened on the battlefield! A costumed interpreter will lead this family friendly gallery tour that explores the roles women played during the American Civil War.

2:00pm "Blood or Bread!" — Richmond Bread Riots (ranger-led tour)

Meet at the Washington Statue, Capitol Square, Virginia State Capitol

The cry of "Blood or Bread!" echoed through the streets of the capital as a mob, led by angry women, broke into stores and warehouses. The Richmond Bread Riot took place on April 2, 1863. Join park rangers as we explore its causes, walk the route, and discuss its effects. The walking tour covers two miles and will last two hours. Expect uneven surfaces, and limited seating is available along the route.

Ranger-led tours are free. Programs inside the American Civil War Center are free with admission to the Center.
