In June of 1812, General Hull ordered a road to connect Fort Detroit with the rest of the U.S. A part of this corduroy road remains 200 years later near the mouth of the Huron River and is the only known log remnant of the first U.S. military federal road. Through the generous contributions of Wayne County Michigan and US Silica Corp. this significant part of American history will be preserved and made accessible for the benefit of the public in perpetuity as the Hulls Trace Unit of River Raisin National Battlefield Park.

The Kayaking program is limited and will be available on a first reservation basis.

The Ticket-to-Float Youth Outdoor Kayak Explorer Program is an engaging opportunity for 1,000+ metro Detroit area junior and senior high youth to experience kayaking as they learn about America's early history and vast natural resources. This new program has been made possible by the generous contributions of

The National Park Foundation through Coca-Cola, the Coca-Cola Foundation, DISNEY, Subaru, the Scrooby Foundation
