

Oh my!

Live Reptile & Amphibian Show: See 'em, Touch 'em, Explore!

Get up close & personal with live reptiles and amphibians from the Santa Monica Mountains as well as those from distant lands.

Explore the fascinating world of herpetology with members of the Southwestern Herpetologists Society as they display 100 live reptiles & amphibians. Don't miss the incredible photo display by eleven-year-old herpetologist and accomplished photographer Nick Hess.

Sunday
October 6
10AM–3PM

Santa Monica Mountains
Visitor Center

26876 Mulholland Hwy
(just east of Las Virgenes)
Calabasas, CA 91302

Speaker Program

11AM | The Toxic California Newt: A Complex Story of Defense, Gary Bucciarelli, UCLA

12PM | Jump Back to the Santa Monica Mountains: The Re-introduction of California Red-legged Frogs, Katy Delaney, NPS

1PM | Understanding & Living with Venomous Snakes of California, Ray Morgan, Southwestern Herpetologists Society

2PM | From Social to Indifferent: Insights into the Bizarre Sex Lives of Southern California Lizards, Bobby Espinoza, Cal State University Northridge

Free Event, Free Parking

For more info
call 805-370-2302,
email samo@wnpa.org,
or visit wnpa.org

This event is cosponsored by Southwestern Herpetologists Society, Western National Parks Association, National Park Service, and the Mountains Recreations & Conservation Authority.

Western
National Parks
Association