YEAR IN FOCUS

MISSION, VISION, AND VALUES

Mission

We, the United States Park Police, support and further the mission and goals of the Department of the Interior and the National Park Service by providing quality law enforcement to safeguard lives, protect our national treasures and symbols of democracy, and preserve the natural and cultural resources entrusted to us.

Vision

We, the United States Park Police, strive to be the premier police organization within the Federal Government: delivering professional full-service law enforcement to the National Park Service and the neighboring communities, thus providing a safe haven for enjoyment of these areas without fear; serving the people with respect and dignity; ensuring citizens are free to exercise safely their First Amendment rights of free speech and assembly; and providing all employees the opportunity to grow, receive recognition, and thrive with pride within our organization.

Values

We, the members of the United States Park Police, believe that integrity, honor, and service are the foundation of everything we do.

We insist on fairness and responsibility in all facets of our professional and personal conduct and demand the highest standards of ethical behavior. We are dedicated to protecting human life and to providing quality service to the public, the National Park Service, and the Department of the Interior. We meet community needs with sensitivity, professionalism, and we hold ourselves accountable to each other and to the citizens we serve.

CHIEF'S MESSAGE

In last year's message, I announced that I promoted Deputy Chief MacLean to command our Homeland Security Division, discussed our continued success at policing large-scale events, and commented on budgeting issues. This year, I want to continue talking about our successes and the challenges that we endured. First, I want to discuss several organizational changes I made that will ensure that our operation continues to run efficiently. I promoted Victor Chapman to Deputy Chief, Commander of the Services Division, hired an expert with an extensive background in intelligence to lead our Intelligence Branch, reassigned officers who demonstrated a propensity for traffic enforcement to the Traffic Safety Unit Strategic Traffic Operations

Program (STOP Team), and appointed a Captain to exclusively handle the planning of large-scale special events. However, this year we endured several challenges that included contending with three Occupy Movements in Washington, DC, New York City and Philadelphia; suffered through the destruction of Hurricane Sandy; and prepared for the 57th Presidential Inauguration Ceremony. We also played an important role in providing security during the 75th Anniversary of the Golden Gate Bridge Celebration, which is the theme of this year's report. I am extremely proud of the leadership and teamwork exhibited by the Force during these trials. In closing, I want to thank the members of the U.S. Park Police, the National Park Service, the Department of the Interior, and our stakeholders for making this another successful year.

Teresa C. Chambers, Chief of Police

PERFORMANCE AND PERSONNEL STATISTICS CY 2012

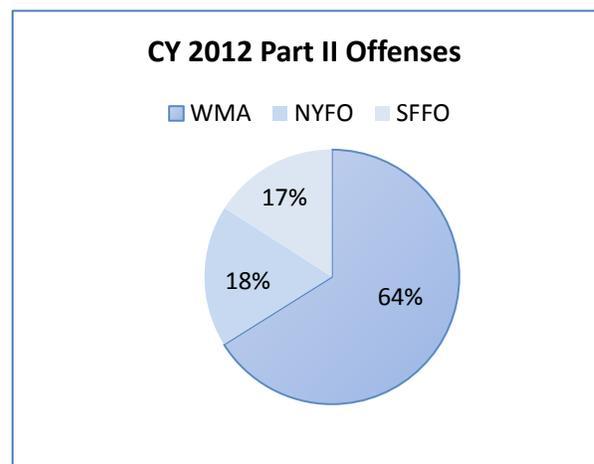

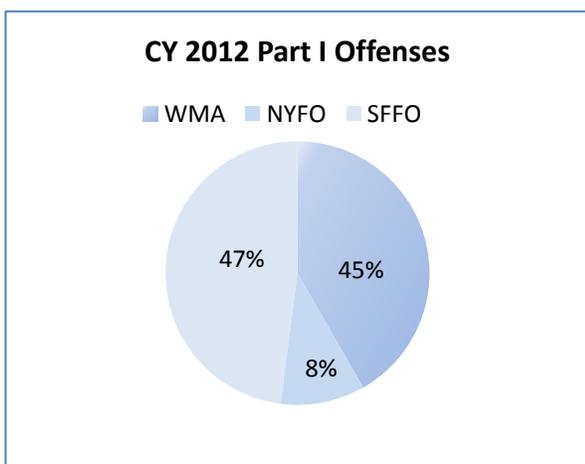

In 1929, the Unified Crime Report (UCR) was created by the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP). It is a uniform incident classification system that documents crime statistics in our nation. Since its inception, it has become a tool that law enforcement professionals and social scientists have used to track and dissect crime. Police Departments throughout the United States forward their crime statistics to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). The FBI maintains, compiles, and publishes the UCR. In this document, criminal violations are broken into two categories: Part I and Part II Offenses.

CY 2012 U.S. Park Police Part I and Part II Offenses

Incident Category	WMA	WMA %	NYFO	NYFO %	SFFO	SFFO %	FORCE TOTALS

PART I Offenses - Part I Offenses are the most serious crimes committed in our nation. Crimes in this category include homicides, rapes, aggravated assaults, robberies, burglaries, larcenies, thefts, and arsons.

Part II Offenses - Part II Offenses are crimes or violations that are not defined as Part I Offenses. A general list of crimes included in this category are simple assault, forgery, counterfeiting, fraud, loitering, embezzlement, possession of stolen property, vandalism, weapons violations, vice and prostitution, drug violations, gambling, offenses against family and children, driving while intoxicated, liquor law violations, drunkenness, disorderly conduct, curfew violations, and runaways.

ICON PROTECTION

In 2012, the Washington Monument remained closed due to damage caused by an earthquake that occurred on August 23, 2011. The most significant damage occurred at the top of the Monument at heights between 475 feet and 530 feet. As the repairs progressed, the U.S. Park Police continued to play an integral part of the repair effort by ensuring that security of the Monument was not compromised.

Officers also continued to diligently patrol the Martin Luther King, Jr., Memorial. Since its dedication last year, its popularity has continued to increase. Numerous events were held at the Memorial, including the annual Cherry Blossom Festival, pictured on the right.

SPECIAL EVENTS AND DETAILS

The U.S. Park Police are involved in thousands of special events each year. A large majority of these events involve park visitors exercising their first amendment rights. This trend continued in 2012.

The popular Occupy Movements continued to impact parks administered by the National Park Service in Washington, DC, New York City, and Philadelphia.

Other large gatherings that occurred in 2012 included the annual Fourth of July Celebration, Rolling Thunder, and the St. Patrick's Day Parade. The U.S. Park Police actively participated in these events. The Park Police Honor Guard, pictured on the left, marched in the St. Patrick's Day parade in Washington, DC.

The Horse Mounted Unit participated in the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Washington, DC.

In San Francisco, Horse Mounted officers participated in the Memorial Day Parade on the Presidio.

Each year, thousands of park visitors visit Washington, DC, during the 4th of July Celebration. This event consistently draws large crowds throughout NPS areas in Washington, DC, and Virginia. In the afternoon, there is a parade on Constitution Avenue and in the evening there is a fireworks display. Planning of this event takes several months and is coordinated with our parent organization, the National Park Service. The U.S. Park Police also works with a number of partnering agencies, including the Metropolitan Police Department, to ensure that park visitors remain safe during the event.

With large crowds, it is always a challenge to circulate important information to visitors. In recent years, the U.S. Park Police began using NIXLE. NIXLE is a program that allows park visitors to receive important information via e-mails or text messages on electronic devices.

The United States Park Police provides security during the 28th Army Ten-Miler.

On Memorial Day, Washington, DC, celebrated the 25th Anniversary of “Rolling Thunder.” In this event, motorcyclists ride to honor veterans and fallen soldiers. During this event, the U.S. Park Police managed high visitation and participation to ensure visitor safety.

In 2011, Occupy DC protesters began protesting in McPherson Square Park and Freedom Plaza to exercise their First Amendment Rights. Tents were erected and communities were formed within Park boundaries. In December 2011, protesters erected the frame of a house under the cover of darkness in McPherson Square Park. When it was discovered, it was dismantled; however, several individuals were arrested in the process.

On February 4, 2012, the United States Park Police conducted nuisance abatement and compliance efforts. Officers were confronted by several non-compliant subjects, several of whom were arrested. One subject threw a bottle, which struck an officer in the face, causing significant injury. U.S. Park Police officers wore protective suits to ensure protection from contaminated materials. The U.S. Park Police demonstrated professionalism and discipline throughout the Occupy DC events.

In June, U.S. Park Police officers from New York and Washington, DC, traveled to Philadelphia to assist National Park Service Law Enforcement Rangers with a demonstration at the Liberty Bell. Occupy groups from across the country attended a mass gathering at Independence National Historical Park. This detail ensured that park visitors were able to exercise their 1st amendment rights in a safe environment.

In 2012, two space shuttles were put on public display adjacent to national monuments in Washington, DC, and New York City, as they were relocated to their new destinations.

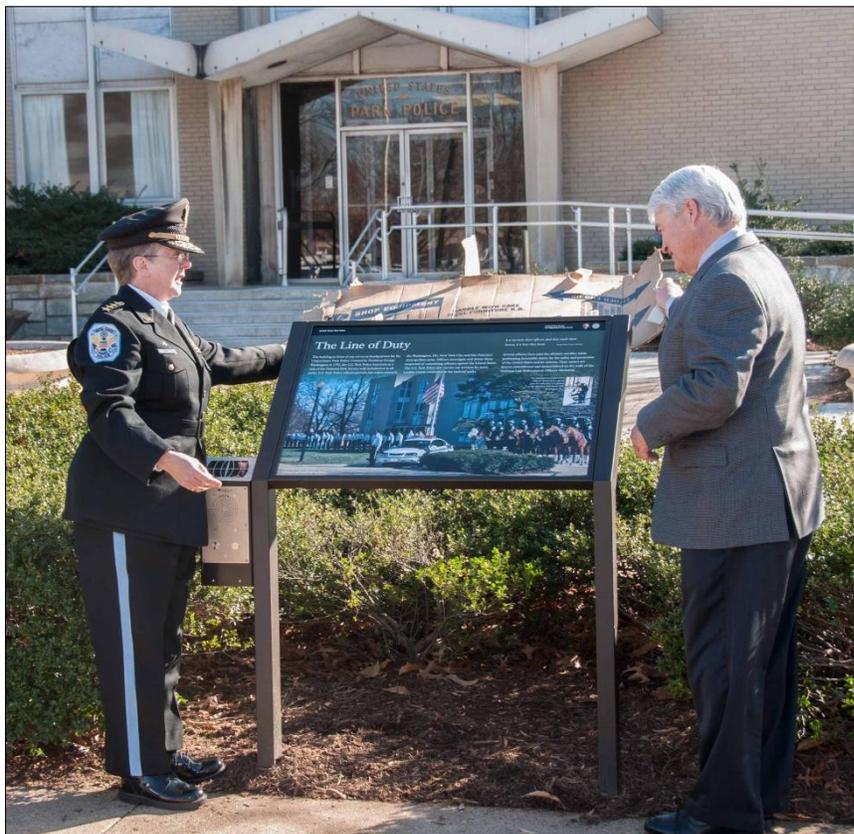

On April 17, 2012, the Space Shuttle Discovery was bolted to a jumbo jet and flown around the U.S. Capitol and the Washington Monument, as displayed in the photo on the left. Large groups of people traveled to the Monument grounds and the National Mall for breathtaking views. Space Shuttle Discovery was slated to replace Space Shuttle Enterprise at the Smithsonian's Air and Space Museum's Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center.

On April 27, 2012, Enterprise, the country's first space shuttle, was transferred to the Intrepid Sea, Air & Space Museum in New York City. On its voyage, the New York Field Office Marine Unit assisted in escorting the spaceship past the Statue of Liberty.

On December 14, 2012, the United States Park Police unveiled a wayside display in the front of United States Park Police Headquarters. The United States Park Police collaborated with several partners, which included personnel from the NCR, Harpers Ferry, and the National Mall & Memorial Parks. USPP SWAT Officer Jerome Stoudamire created the voiceover that tells the story of the United States Park Police for park visitors who are visually impaired. During this ceremony, Chief Chambers and Steve Whitesell, Regional Director of the National Capital Region, presented the wayside.

Officer Weisbaum represented the United States Park Police in the Police Unity Tour Ride in 2012. This ride honors the sacrifices of police officers who died in the line of duty. Nearly 1,600 police officers from around the country rode in the Unity Tour and raised nearly $1.6 million.

Officer Weisbaum rode for U.S. Park Police Sergeant Michael Boehm, who died in the line duty in 2011. Sergeant Boehm collapsed after responding to the scene of an individual who committed suicide. Officer Weisbaum raised close to $5,000. She wore several “bands of honor” during the ride, which were later presented to Sergeant Boehm’s family and friends.

COMMUNITY RELATIONS

The U.S Park Police believes that community involvement is an essential part of carrying out our mission. To that end, we encourage Force members to engage the public and assist them to the best of our abilities. We also believe it is important to foster positive relationships with young park visitors, which will inevitably lead to lasting impressions.

One method the Force employs to connect with the community is the use of static displays. The U.S. Park Police visits schools and attends public gatherings or other events to educate the public.

The U.S. Park Police hosted a “Women as Role Models” event for the Girl Scouts. The event was a success and the Girl Scouts were extremely appreciative. A number of different units within the U.S. Park Police volunteered to participate. The photo on the right shows a member of the Firearms Unit giving a lesson on gun safety.

National Parks draw people from all over the world in order to learn more about different cultures and religions. U.S. Park Police hosted training on the Sikh religion. The knowledge gained through this course will strengthen the Force’s awareness and sensitivity to diverse cultures and religions.

PATROL OPERATIONS

The U.S. Park Police organized a series of table-top exercises to promote operational leadership. Each exercise was designed to encourage the students to work their way through situations that they may encounter on patrol without the assistance of higher ranking officers. Ultimately, this mental preparation encourages leadership and self-reliance when officers encounter uncertain conditions.

The Aviation Unit conducts hundreds of medevacs and rescues each year. One notable rescue that the Unit conducted occurred on the Old Rag Mountain in Shenandoah National Park after a rock climber fell and injured himself. National Park Service rangers immediately scaled the mountain, reached the victim, and provided medical assistance. However, due to the extent of his injuries, a transport from the Aviation Unit was requested. The photo on the right shows the U.S. Park Police hoisting the victim with assistance from the NPS rangers on the ground.

Hurricane Sandy

On October 29, 2012, Hurricane Sandy devastated the U.S. Park Police operation in Washington, DC, and, more significantly, in New York City. This storm destroyed homes and businesses, including National Park Service property, at both localities. Command officials in Washington, DC, immediately established a command post and obtained updates of how the storm was affecting U.S. Park Police operations. In Washington, DC, numerous park roads were flooded and a number of trees were uprooted. One tree fell on our H-3 stables in Rock Creek Park. In New York City, Liberty Island sustained significant damage that caused flooding and power outages.

This created an environment with no food, water, heat, electricity, or phone lines. Park visitation was suspended due to safety concerns. Patrol officers assigned to the Liberty District were temporarily reassigned to Gateway District because of uninhabitable working conditions. As a result, the NYFO SWAT Team was sent to protect the Statue of Liberty. In Hurricane Sandy's aftermath, the National Park Service dispatched two pre-established Incident Management Teams (IMT) to the Region to ensure Park continuity and to spearhead the recovery efforts. To ensure the appropriate coordination and representation of the U.S. Park Police in these efforts, a U.S. Park Police Captain was detailed to the IMT as a Liaison Officer. In addition, two Lieutenants from the Washington, DC, area volunteered to assist. All personnel involved in the recovery efforts worked extremely long hours with little time off. The teamwork and camaraderie exhibited during this crisis is a testament to our agency's resolve in the face of adversity.

ACHIEVEMENTS

The FBI National Academy is a professional course of study for U.S. and International law enforcement leaders and serves to improve the administration of justice in police departments. The 11-week curriculum consists of advanced investigative, managerial, and fitness training. In 2012, Lieutenant Michael Wilson was selected to represent the U.S. Park Police.

DRUNK DRIVING ENFORCEMENT

WRAP Award

Officer Ronald Pisano received the Washington Regional Alcohol Program (WRAP) Award for his excellence in detection and enforcement of Driving While Intoxicated (DWI) violations. The WRAP is a partnership between the public and private sectors that combats drunk driving. A popular program that WRAP utilizes to reduce alcohol-related traffic deaths is called SoberRide, which is a free taxicab service for individuals who have consumed alcohol.

Hakim Farthing Award

Officer Christopher Gogarty was presented with the Hakim Farthing Award for his excellence in DWI and traffic enforcement. This is Officer Gogarty's second consecutive year receiving this award. Chief Chambers, National Park Service Deputy Director of Operations Peggy O'Dell, and Fraternal Order of Police (FOP) Chairman Glick were in attendance.

The Force and the FOP jointly created this award to honor the memory of Officer Hakim Farthing. Officer Farthing was killed in the line of duty in 2002 by a drunk driver on the Baltimore-Washington Parkway. The driver hit him as he was directing traffic while on the scene of a fatal traffic accident.

The U.S. Park Police participated in the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) Driving While Intoxicated "Click it or Ticket" Campaign kickoff. At the event, the Traffic Safety Unit STOP Team was photographed with the Secretary of Transportation.

YEAR IN REVIEW

THE GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE: 75th Anniversary

The Golden Gate Bridge's 75th Anniversary occurred on May 27, 2012, and was a time for people to celebrate the history of a notable landmark. The Golden Gate Bridge is a suspension bridge that connects San Francisco to Marin County in California. The northern and southern portions of the bridge rest on National Park Service (NPS) property. NPS Superintendent of Golden Gate National Recreation Area, Frank Dean, was one of several hosts of this event. The NPS partnered with numerous entities to make the event a success. Most of the activities regarding the "Golden Gate Festival" were held on Fort Point, Crissy Field, and the Presidio. During this event, U.S. Park Police officers diligently patrolled each park.

During the Golden Gate Bridge 75th Anniversary Fireworks Celebration, the U.S. Park Police was tasked with managing the crowds, designating the traffic control and flow patterns, and ensuring that the participants had a safe celebration. The end of the celebration was marked with a momentous firework display. Thousands of park visitors watched the festivities from Crissy Field.

The Force was proud to be part of an event that was based upon the core values and principles upon which this nation was founded.

The background of the page features a large, faint, light-colored seal of the United States Park Police. The seal is circular and contains the text "UNITED STATES" at the top and "POLICE" at the bottom. In the center, there is a shield with a scale of justice and a sword, flanked by two figures. A banner across the shield contains the text "FIDELITY BRAVERY INTEGRITY".
