

War in the Pacific National Historical Park was created to commemorate the bravery and sacrifices of those who fought in the Pacific War (1941–1945). During World War II, American and Japanese forces engaged in battles on Guam and throughout the Pacific. As a result, unexploded ordnance or munitions can be found in these areas on or offshore. For your safety do not remove any munitions you may find as they are extremely dangerous. Safely report any munitions found by calling 911 or the nearest law enforcement office.

Safety

- If you see it, move AWAY
- Do not touch, kick, move or otherwise come into contact with any suspected military munition
- Do not approach a suspected military munition; some fuzes are sensitive to movement, ferrous metal (magnetic), and temperature changes
- Never spend more time near a suspect item than is absolutely necessary
- Never attempt to uncover or remove anything from the suspect item
- Do not transmit radio frequencies (walkie-talkies, citizens band radio, cellular phones, etc.) within 100 feet of suspect item
- Call 911 and report finding
