

Area Camping

Spending a night beneath the clear starry skies of White Sands National Park may be a very tempting prospect, but our primitive backcountry campsites are only available to those who don't mind the one-mile hike back to the sites. For those who prefer to sleep in a vehicle or RV, there are many campgrounds within a relatively short distance of the park. Below you will find a map of some of these local campgrounds. On the back side, you will find additional information on each of the campground sites. Please contact the sites themselves for more detailed information. Further camping information can be found at www.recreation.gov.
