

Create your own Water Droplet Ranger

Water is essential for our daily lives and the health of ecosystems around the world.

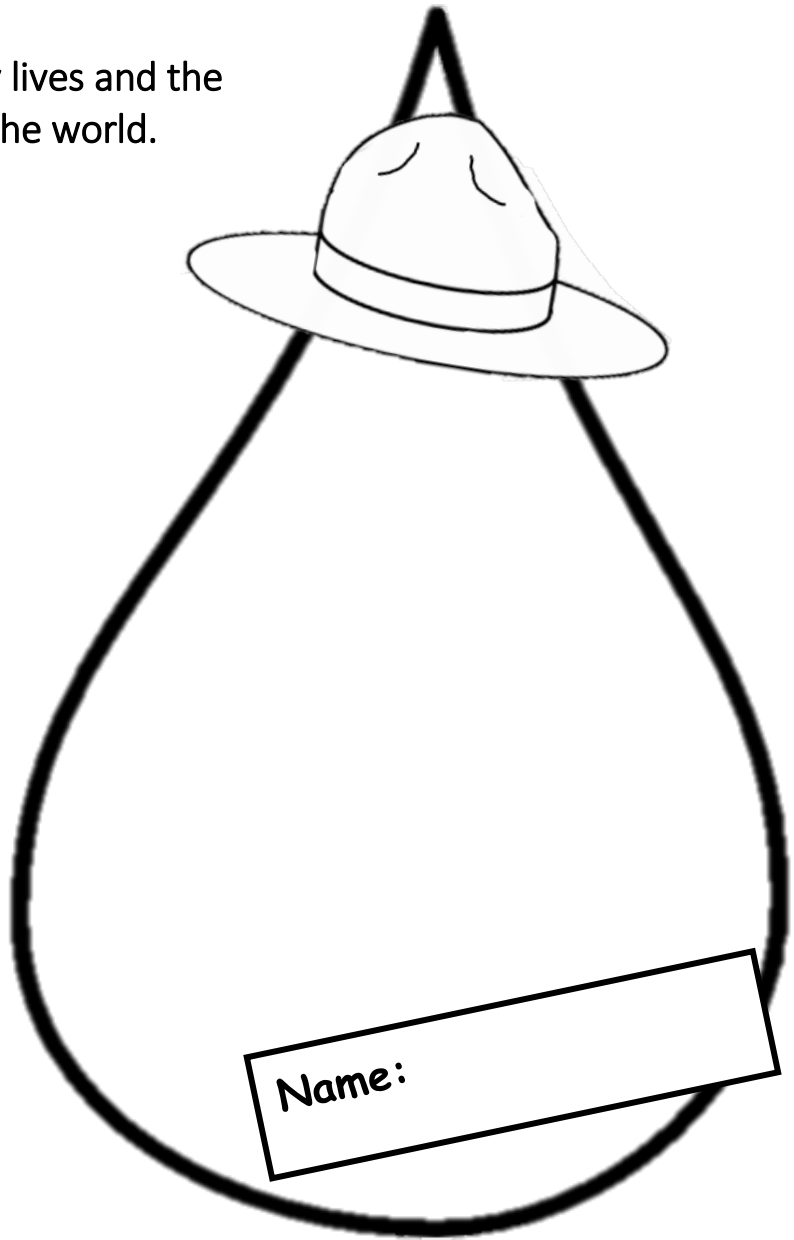

Step 1: Decorate and name your water droplet.

Step 2: Cut out.

Step 3: Take a picture of your water droplet next to or near a water source in your home or community.

Step 4: Share this picture with your friends and family.

Step 5: Discuss the following questions with a least one other person and discover more about your connection to water.

What does water mean to you?

How do you access water in your community?

What journey did the water take before it reached your home or community?

How could the water in your home be connected to Yellowstone National Park?
