COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

Introduction

This index details the correspondents and subjects discussed in letters sent and received by the Superintendent of Yellowstone National Park during the era the U.S. Army administered the park. Letters indexed are only those recorded in a series of bound ledgers which form a portion of the Yellowstone National Park Army era records. Additional letters, both sent and received, may be found elsewhere in the collection. While the larger body of records dates from 1886 to 1918, the volumes of letters sent and received are limited to the years 1887-1906, with the bulk of the letters dating to 1888-1903. The letters include correspondence regarding individuals, companies, the military, and the judicial system. Letters acting as support for court cases, direct orders, and letters of recommendation are included. Military and civilian letters make up a small portion of the collection while the majority are related to business and judicial topics. The index references individuals, animals, companies and “events” such as stagecoach holdups.

The index was originally handwritten on 3 inch by 5 inch index cards. The date and indexer are unknown, but it is likely the index was created not long after the establishment of the Yellowstone National Park Archives. In order to increase accessibility outside of the research room, the index was transcribed into digital form by volunteers and interns in 2012 and 2013. A three step review process was adopted to ensure the accuracy of the transcription. It is unknown, however, how well the original cards were reviewed during the initial indexing. For this reason, it may be necessary to consult additional finding aids and other search tools when conducting comprehensive research. Please see the finding aid for the Yellowstone National Park Army Era Records, 1886-1918, for additional records documenting this period of Yellostone’s history.

How to use the index

The first column of the index specifies the individual or business name, topic, or event. The index is organized alphabetically, with names appearing last name first. In the case of businesses using the name of an individual, the business is listed under the last name. So, for example, the business A. W. Miles Co. is filed under “m” for Miles. Also, be aware that common names are occasionally abbreviated, i. e. Geo. for George, so searching both versions may be necessary.

The second column, labeled citation, lists the date of the correspondence and, usually, the page number within the volume. Volumes are organized chronologically; the inclusion of page numbers, while helpful, is not required for locating an item. Sometimes the notation “LS”, for letters sent is included. Letters sent and letters received are housed in different volumes. However, the letters received volumes do not begin until 1897. For dates prior to 1897, it should be assumed that the volume is letters sent, even in the absence of the LS designation. After that date, there should be a notation to indicate whether sent or received. Inclusion of the notation is not fully consistent, however, so it is recommended to check both volumes if the first consulted yields no results.

The final column provides further indication of the topic under discussion within the letter. Notes are not included for all listings, but can be used to further refine searches and as additional search terms for keyword searching of the index.
