COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

MARTIN A. MCDONOUGH SCRAPBOOK 1947-1953

CATALOG NUMBER YELL 190029

VOLUME 0.5 LF

DESCRIPTION Scrapbook of trips to Yellowstone National Park, the Bahamas, and St. Louis, Missouri by Martin A. McDonough.

The scrapbook consists of photographs, menus, tickets, receipts, travel documents, brochures, pamphlets, and timetables. The items are pasted onto beige construction paper and bound between red vinyl boards with the word "Scrapbook" in gilt on the cover. The scrapbook may have been created at a later date given the materials in the book as well as the non-chronological arrangement of the materials.

The scrapbook begins with a trip to Yellowstone National Park in 1950. McDonough, traveling with his parents, appears to have stayed at the Mammoth Hot Springs and Canyon Hotels and several menus for meals are included. There are also receipts and tickets for luggage and travel as well as brochures and pamphlets related to the Union Pacific Railroad, Yellowstone Park Company (YPC), and the Old Faithful Inn.

A number of photographs depict McDonough, Mom and Dad, and a Mr. Manning and sister. There are also images of Old Faithful and Firehole geysers, Devil's Cauldron, Dragon Tooth, Sulpher Spring, and Paint Pots. Landscapes include the Upper and Lower Falls of the Yellowstone River, the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone, Eagle's Nest, Mt. Sheridan, and the Firehole River. Other views include the West Yellowstone station (railroad depot), an YPC tour bus, snow in July, and numerous images of black bears.

Later portions of the scrapbook contain ephemera and photographs of trips to Bermuda in 1953 and St. Louis, Missouri, in 1947. Although the materials are generally grouped by event, a few images of Yellowstone do appear on what is otherwise a page devoted to Bermuda.

ORGANIZATION

The scrapbook remains in its original order.

PROVENANCE

Gift of David Pugh, March 2011. The scrapbook was found in a garage/warehouse in Santa Rosa, California with no associated documentation by Pugh's daughter Emily. Both Pughs had worked for the Park in previous years.
